At Home: A Short History of Private Life

By Bill Bryson

643.1
B848

Bill Bryson takes you on a tour of both the history of his own house and the concept of home. "Houses aren't refuges from history. They are where history ends up". Bryson makes you think about daily life and how it has changed over time in a fun manner. For example, we don't know when stairs were invented or how exactly, but they completely revolutionized house design because you could add an extra floor to your house. He wonderfully illustrates how dark the world was before electricity. He also adds in fun historical anecdotes and tidbits like how many people invented the light bulb (it wasn't just Edison). His writing style makes history interesting and funny.

NEWSLETTER April 2011

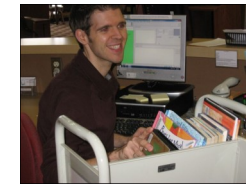

National Library Week: Book Sale, Fine Amnesty, & Pictures April 10th -April 16th

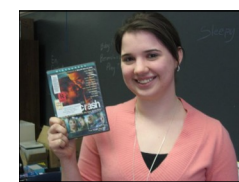

National Library Week is a big week at the Library!

We will have a book sale, fine amnesty, and "Picture Yourself @ the Library".

- The Friends of the Library will have a book sale Saturday (4/16) 10:00-4:30 & Sunday (4/17) 1:00-4:00. Fill a bag for $5 ($7 for non-members) or buy books individually for $1 (two children's books for $1).
- This is also Fine Amnesty Week. This is your opportunity to bring back any overdue items with no late fees!
- On Monday (4/11) 6:00-8:00 & Tuesday (4/12) 10:00-1:30, we will be snapping pictures of patrons. "Picture Yourself @ the Library" - Come and get a snapshot of yourself at the library doing your favorite library activity or with your favorite book. You will be given framing supplies and then you may keep or display your photo here. Hear a terrific story, too!

Library staff posing with their favorite things—books, magazines & DVDs.

Kinect Sports Track and Field Champion

On February 28, 2011, there was an impromptu Kinect Sports Track and Field competition during Video Game Night at the library. This month on Video Game Night (4/25), there will be a dance-off with Kinect's Dance Central and Dance Dance Revolution on the Wii. Come show off your mad dancing skillz! All ages and abilities welcome! Video Game Night is regularly scheduled on the last Monday of the month.

Disney Cartoons this Month!

Pinocchio, Alice in Wonderland, Aristocats The Fox & the Hound, Robin Hood, Pocahontas, Jungle Book, and Jungle Book II. Movies are shown Fridays (10:30) and Saturdays (2:00). Cartoons aren't just for kids—come to the library and enjoy a Disney flick that you haven't seen in a while. All ages welcome!

April Holidays
